Relation between runtime and number of sampled nodes